Two of the most exciting bowling games of the year were played on the Wheeling Park alleys last evening, and the Bowlers, "Team Harrison's Pets," did something they had not before accomplished this season—won two straights. This team, which at the start of the championship season was generally accounted a factor in the problem of a possible pennant winner, has greatly disappointed its admirers, but the showing made last night indicates that the Bowlers contain as good material as any team in the league.

The first game was won and lost by a difference of nearly 200 pins. Craddock and List did the best individual work for the winners, and Harris, of the Calumet team, had the best score of the game, 277. The trouble was his classmates did not give him an errorless and glib-edged support. The score:

Club	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th	10th	Total
Harrison	6	3	1	2	1	2	1	2	1	2	153

In the second game the Calumet boys did good work, and at the ninth frame were ahead of the Bowlers. They were on the ball, and while they were making "breaks and spares" their opponents were making up an almost unbroken record of "strikes and spares." Cameron, of the Calumet team, broke the record for highest individual score of the league season, 293, almost perfect. This performance created great enthusiasm at the alley side, and even the opposing players were sorry he did not make the highest possible score, 300. Hazlett led the Bowlers with 247, followed closely by Frissell with 246. The score:

Club	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th	10th	Total

WILL MEET HANKE AND BELL AFTER THE GREER RACE.

Last evening there was a meeting of the backers of Will Greer, the wheelman, and E. C. McClelland, the runner and roller skater, who are to contest at the North End rink next Thursday evening, Washington's birthday, to decide whether Greer should be allowed a banked track. After some talk this concession was agreed upon; it was really a necessity for the wheelman. Both men are training faithfully for the race, and it promises to be a corker.

The following appeared in a Pittsburgh paper yesterday morning:

"Seeing Mr. E. C. McClelland's open challenge to the world in your paper of the 12th, where he claims to be the champion fast twenty-mile roller skater of the world, I would say that I will skate him a twenty-mile race on roller skates for either $500 or $1,000 a side, race to take place five weeks after signing articles; or I will skate him a three or five mile race inside of two weeks for from $200 to $1,000, race to take place in any good rink in the country, the contest to be governed by the National Roller Skating rules. Will meet Mr. McClelland or his backer any place he or they may suggest."

"JOHN J. BELL."

In regard to the above McClelland said he is willing to skate against Bell twenty-five miles two weeks from signature of agreement, for $250 a side and 80 per cent of the gate receipts to go to the McClelland also said he would skate against Eugene Hanke, of this city, five miles for $250 a side or $500, three weeks from signature of articles, and will meet Hanke at any time and place he prefers. He says he will put up the "scuff" and is not bluffing, but means business from the word "go."

CUTTING AND SHOOTING

And Bouncing Going On—Three Cases Last Evening.

After a lull, things seemed to be stirred up last night. Adam Shaffer and Kittle Linn were out sleigh-riding and drinking. They returned to her rooms on North Market street, and Shaffer started to come down town. The woman objected, and when he persisted she drew a revolver and fired at him, the ball taking effect in the fleshy part of the leg. Officer Haberfeld arrested her and found the revolver on her.

Last night about 9 o'clock two colored men, Porter Griggsby, of Bridgeport, and Dave Thomas, became involved in a quarrel from some unknown cause or causes on the market square in the second ward, and from words they proceeded to razors, in which Griggsby had decidedly the best of it, cutting Thomas two fearful slashes, one across both thighs and the other in the left breast. The injured man was taken to a store nearby and a physician attended to his wounds, which are very serious, but are not yet considered to have a chance of fatality.

Griggsby fled from the scene at once, with Officer Nick Herbert hot on his trail. He made for the steel bridge, and rapidly increased the distance between himself and the officer. Herbert jumped into a passing sleigh and captured the colored man at the Island end of the bridge and brought him to police headquarters.

Yesterday afternoon an alleged cigar drummer and a horse-leader got into a game of cards in Harry Smith's saloon, on the South Side. After it had proceeded some time Smith was induced to bet his watch and chain on one of the men's hands, and of course lost it. He informed the police, and Lieut. Gans found the men had gone to Hollairs. The officers there were telephoned to and last night Officer Malley found the men and recovered the watch and chain. The men were let go, as the offense would not justify bringing them here for trial.

MR. FRANZHEIM'S VIEWS.

He Talks to a Reporter in Washington City on the Tariff.

The following is from the Washington, D. C., Post of Thursday:

"The pottery business is in a very bad way," said Mr. Charles W. Franzheim, of Wheeling, W. Va., president of the second, largest pottery plant in the United States, to a Post man at Willard's. "The operatives in this industry throughout the country are on a strike because they would not accept a reduction in wages. Our works have been practically idle since the 20th of December. The dull times made it necessary to cut down wages. If the Wilson bill becomes a law I see no hope for the business, since it reduces the duty nearly one-half. We can't compete with the wares of England or Germany, not to speak of the Japanese products, which would flood the country under the reduced duty."

"The labor question is the keynote to the whole affair. We pay our operatives 125 per cent more than the manufacturers of England, and 200 per cent more than in Germany. If we could hire labor at European prices we would gladly give the men the benefit of the tariff. Wheeling is an important manufacturing city, and the country has been steadily Democratic, yet I do not think it will stay so, in view of the popular dissatisfaction with the Wilson bill. The workmen are awake to the fact that wages cannot be maintained if American products are to be thrown into unrestricted competition with those of Europe. You can count on West Virginia going over to the Republicans in the coming campaign."

MOUNDSVILLE.

A Miscellaneous Mixture of Minor Matters from Marshall's Metropolis.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. are arranging for a grand demonstration next Thursday, the 22nd. Sister councils from different places all around have accepted their invitation and will be here. A big parade will take place at 1 p. m. About 1,000 juniors are expected to be in line. A prize of $10 will be given to the council having the largest percentage of its members in line. A fine entertainment will be given at the court house at 2:45 p. m., and another in the evening at the same place. Numerous bands will be on hand. Delegations will be here from Cameron, Wheeling, Rosky's, Graysville, Clarksburg, New Martinsville, Sistersville and other places.

The Epworth League spent their social evening on last Thursday at the home of J. F. Barley, Jr. A large crowd of young people was there and had a very pleasant time. Numerous games were played. A colored orchestra which was on serenading was called in and rendered very fine music. Refreshments were served and all left feeling well repaid for having been there. A number of the young ladies who are earning $1 for the benefit of the company helped the young gentlemen on with their overcoats and charged a nickel for it. Quite a neat little sum was made by this way.

Mrs. Charles Kull, nee Eliza Stockett, aged eighteen, died Thursday and will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock. She had only been married a little more than a year.

HEALTH MORE THAN SUCCESS.

No One Has a Greater Share of Both Than Beautiful Marie Tempest.

Marie Tempest.

That stage fright is a malady which afflicts the most experienced and capable actors as well as beginners, is the unanimous verdict of the profession.

Miss Marie Tempest, whose many successes upon the English and American stage, have placed her in the front rank of operatic stars, admitted frankly upon a recent occasion that she is frequently attacked by stage fright. Miss Tempest combines a voice of extraordinary pitch and sweetness with the dramatic fervor of an emotional actress to a greater degree probably than any other prima donna now upon the English speaking stage, and the statement will be a surprise to thousands of her admirers whom she has impressed as the personification of supreme confidence and self-control.

"The sensation is one of utter collapse," she said, "it is truly an awful feeling and is nearer to seasickness than anything else I know of. Players with a highly nervous organization are sure to be attacked by it when approaching the climax of an important part, or when appearing for the first time in a new play. Those playing emotional roles are more susceptible to stage fright than others, because the individual capable of portraying those parts successfully is necessarily possessed of a highly nervous and impressionable temperament."

"In one respect a highly developed nervous organization is indispensable to success, as without it a proper conception and feeling of the part to be acted are impossible. You know an actress must not only understand her part, but be so absorbed in it that she forgets her own personality, and for the time being lives in her assumed character."

"Then great nervous excitability is a decided advantage to an actress?"

"In the way I have described, yes; as a general proposition, no. The mental strain, the intense application necessary to a proper realization of the part, the apprehension that the audience may be criticizing you adversely, and the constant study of new roles, undermines the health and often cuts short the career of the conscientious and ambitious actress. At the close of last season I was completely prostrated by nervous excitement and overwork. My nerves were so unstrung that the slightest sounds startled me, and I became sleepless, melancholy and irritable. Sick and disheartened, I sought the home of an old and dear friend, who immediately advised me to use a brain and nerve food of which I had heard much but knew comparatively little. I would have taken anything she chose to give me, but I liked the taste of the preparation and continued its use. I had not consumed one bottle when I found that my nervous system had resumed its normal tone. I no longer jumped at shadows, my appetite came back, each night brought sound and refreshing sleep, and I am now in perfect health and vigor, through a systematic use of Paine's celery compound. The present season has been the most successful, and therefore the most exciting, of my career, but the invaluable remedy which restored my health has also preserved it. I have recommended it to numbers of my friends, and in every case with most fortunate results."

The beautiful prima donna looked the picture of health as she spoke. Her large blue eyes sparkled with animation and her countenance lit up with an expressive smile that enhanced the charming vivacity of her manner as she remarked:

"I have found that devotion to a chosen pursuit is not incompatible with good health. If all the men and women the clergymen, teachers, merchants and lawyers in this busy country, whose overtaxed brains cry out in protest against the heavy burdens laid upon them, were to embrace this remedy, I am sure there would be a marked decrease in that terrible disease, nervous prostration, which seems fast becoming a national one with our Americans. Success is, indeed, a glorious thing, but believe me, health is better."
